DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Moon et al. (US 2003/0097629).

Regarding claim 1, Moon teaches determining a modulation and coding scheme and corresponding resource allocation (see paragraph 7 lines 1-4) as a function of at least one of a determined past, a determinable current, and a future statistic of at least one of channel conditions (see paragraph 7 lines 7-10; The node predicts the channel conditions.) and resource allocation; and transmitting a coded modulated version of the packet in the communication system according to the MCS (see paragraph 7 lines 1-10).

Regarding claim 2, Moon teaches the modulation and coding scheme and corresponding resource allocation is determined as a function of at least two of the determined past (see paragraph 70 line 3; The modulation technique used at the initial transmission corresponds to the past statistic), the determinable current (see paragraph 71 lines 3-8), and the future statistic of at least one of channel conditions and resource allocation.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 3-30 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed on September 7, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

With respect to Applicant's arguments regarding claim 1, Applicant submits that Moon fails to disclose determining "resource allocation" as recited in claim 1. Examiner respectfully disagrees.

Moon teaches the modulation and coding scheme and corresponding resource allocation as a function of at least one of a determined past, a determinable current, and a future statistic of at least one of channel conditions and resource allocation (see paragraph 7 lines 1-10). The modulation and coding scheme changes the size of the data being transmitted (see paragraph 21). The size of data being transmitted determines resource allocation, in that the size of data affects the amount of bandwidth used. Thus, Moon does teach resource allocation as a function of at least one of a determined past, a determinable current, and a future statistic of at least one of channel conditions and resource allocation.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

5. Examiner's Note: Examiner has cited particular columns and line numbers in the references applied to the claims above for the convenience of the applicant. Although the specified citations are representative of the teachings of the art and are applied to specific limitations within the individual claim, other passages and figures may apply as well. It is respectfully requested from the applicant in preparing responses, to fully consider the references in entirety as potentially teaching all or part of the claimed invention, as well as the context of the passage as taught by the prior art or disclosed by the Examiner.

In the case of amending the claimed invention, Applicant is respectfully requested to indicate the portion(s) of the specification which dictate(s) the structure relied on for proper interpretation and also to verify and ascertain the metes and bounds of the claimed invention.
